

HOSPITAL RENEWS PROTEST AGAINST METRO ICE HOUSE

Send Representative to Discover Delay in Moving Station.

NEED "U" HELP

By JOHN SCOTT PEARSON

"The hospital will wait to see what action the Metropolitan Utilities takes regarding their promise to remove the ice house," said Rev. Titus N. Pohl, director of the Evangelical Covenant Hospital, Wednesday, when asked what the hospital's next move would be, since the ice house is still standing.

A petition had been prepared to be presented to the City Council by Covenant Hospital, when the board of trustees of the Metropolitan Utilities had apologized for not removing it by April 10, and it had been predicted that the ice house would be removed immediately, Rev. Pohl said.

Concerning the failure of the Utilities to fulfill its promise, Rev. Pohl said: "There will be a meeting of the Metropolitan board soon and the Covenant Hospital will have a representative at that meeting to discover the reason for the delay."

Mr. L. E. Nelson, the present attendant at the station, said that he was present at a meeting between the owner of the property, Mrs. Reuben H. Schleiger, and her attorney, and that the lawyer stated that there was no legal way for anyone to compel the removal of the building. Mrs. Schleiger is determined to keep the ice house on her property, Nelson said.

The hospital's complaint was based on that the ice station would attract more traffic in this locality, detracting from the residential possibilities of the neighborhood.

"Although it is undoubtedly the responsibility of the University officials to straighten out this matter, the hospital will have to do it if the school doesn't," said Rev. Pohl.

Announce 1935 Netmen Schedule

The 1935 schedule for the Omaha University tennis squad was announced Thursday by Bob Brown, captain of the Cardinal netmen.

The squad lost the first meet of the year to Wesleyan, at Lincoln, last Friday.

Following is this season's lineup:

Peru, April 26th, here; May 15th, there.

State College meet, Wayne, May 17.

Wesleyan, May 18, here.

According to Brown, Morning-side of Sioux City may be added to the list.

Ma-IE show rehearsals will take place in Jacobs' Hall, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. First rehearsals were held Tuesday.

Here's a Good Tip

Ten paces from the east side of Joslyn Hall, to the South, mark an "X".

Ten paces from the edge of the sidewalk, to the West, mark an "X".

You now have two "X's", which means you've been double-crossed, for there is no treasure. It's only an isolated asparagus blooming outside the mechanical drawing room.

It's a green asparagus, discovered by a student with red hair, about six inches high.

American-Cuban Talk.

Present-day American relations with Cuba were discussed on the University Radio Program by Josephine Carroll, '36, and Edward Callin, '35, over W. O. W. at 6 P. M. Monday night, April 21.

Their discussion was based on the Mississippi Valley International Relations Clubs conference at St. Paul, from which they returned last week, and the roundtable discussions which were held there. Omaha University's International Relations club was in charge of the one held on Hispanic-American relations, and utilized the same material in their radio broadcast.

It was brought out that President Roosevelt has greatly modified the attitude concerning the Monroe Doctrine, when he declared that the U. S. would hereafter act the part of the good neighbor and not interfere in Latin American republics. Upon the abrogation of the Platt Amendment this same policy was carried out in Cuba.

"The problem of American relations in Cuba is essentially one of United States capital and diplomacy versus Cuban labor and Cuban government. Cuba blames

Omaha Librarian Visits Nebraska University During Spring Vacation

"Our library compares favorably with that of the State University at Lincoln," stated Miss Inez Chesnut, librarian, upon her return from a visit to Nebraska's library during spring vacation.

Miss Chesnut checked the list of reference material listed in the Handbook of Nebraska University and found that Omaha University's reference collection is strong. Omaha has more than half of those listed and has asked for others for next year. "Such a collection is of basic importance in a library," Miss Chesnut said, "and students should not hesitate to ask for aid in the use of these books. If the material wanted is for a thesis or term paper, it is well to remember that time must be allowed to find it; therefore students should not wait until the last day before making the request."

In the matter of periodicals the Omaha University is further be-

RIGG AND MOUCKA ARE OUTSTANDING GREEKS, BY VOTE

Awarded School Rings by Prof. Hammer at Annual Spring Dance.

200 COUPLES ATTEND

Mary Rigg and John Moucka were honored as Omaha University's "outstanding Greeks" at the annual Pan-Hellenic council spring dance last Friday night at Peony Park.

Prof. Irwin A. Hammer, faculty sponsor of the Pan-Hel council, under whose supervision the council made the selections, announced the winners of the vote and awarded university rings to Rigg and Moucka.

Miss Rigg is president of the senior class and the only girl ever to hold that office. She is also prominent in German club and W. A. A. activity, a member of the Sigma Chi Omicron sorority, ex-president of the university Y. W. C. A., and editor of "Babel," publication of the foreign language department.

As a member of the student council she led the girls of the campus in the recent successful "co-ed rebellion" against the men's domination of student politics.

Moucka is president of the Pan-Hel council and of the Theta Phi Delta fraternity. He is also a student council representative and won a Regents' scholarship last year for high scholastic ranking.

Two hundred couples were present at the award ceremony and the dance.

8-Page Gateway Next Friday!

The largest Gateway in the history of the University, 8 pages, will be circulated next Friday to the students, commemorating the fifth anniversary of the Municipal University of Omaha.

In preparation for three weeks, the Gateway will contain articles of historical and contemporary interest, besides the regular amount of news articles.

Secretive 'Mags' Come to Campus

"Orphan" and "Bootstraps the Second," Appear in Early Part of Week.

Two anonymous publications in three days were distributed to Omaha University students, the editors and the staffs of both still unknown.

On Monday appeared "The Orphan," a twelve-page "slick" magazine, resembling The Ahamo, edited by unknowns. The contents of the magazine were widely distributed as to subject matter, dealing with gambling, hell, student espionage, communism, and jokes.

Wednesday speculation was rife as what is thought to be the last issue of "Bootstraps" appeared on the campus, sent through the mail to various students at the University.

Entitled "Bootstraps the Second," the eight-page mimeographed pamphlet Wednesday was the work of what might be "chiselers," invading territory formerly monopolized by the editors of the original "Bootstraps," according to one school of thought. Other students judged that the title was for purposes of deliberately misleading those interested in apprehending the editors, and throwing suspicion upon others.

Because an editor's note stated that "with this issue the cycle is complete," many think that the issue Wednesday was the last.

Nebraska Regents Offer Scholarship

University of Nebraska regents are offering a tuition scholarship worth about eighty dollars to a graduate of the University of Omaha.

The scholarship will be given to a student from the upper ten percent of the graduating class who is desirous of pursuing graduate work at Nebraska University. The University of Omaha will name the recipient of the scholarship. Paul Polmantier was awarded the scholarship last spring and is now studying for a master's degree in history at Nebraska University.

MA-IE TICKETS GO ON SALE MONDAY; SET GOAL AT 500

Admission, Swimming,
Lunch, Dance, Show
For Fifty Cents.

REHEARSALS FINE

Official sale of tickets for the Ma-IE Day festivities will begin Monday, it was announced today by Wade Knapp, '38, in charge of ticket sales for the Ma-IE committee. Price of the tickets is fifty cents each, and tickets are good for admittance into the park, swimming, luncheon, the Ma-IE Day show, "Pass the Bucks," and the three-hour dance in the evening.

"With all these things for only fifty cents," said Knapp, "the committee and I have no doubts that sales this year will reach a new high. We have set a goal of five hundred sales, but more tickets will be printed if necessary."

The committee has swung into action diligently, according to Chairman Howard Sorensen, '35, meeting several times during spring vacation to thrash out more and more entertainment for the student body.

The College Club orchestra will play for the dance, and will consist of ten men. Dancing will be done on the Peony Park outdoor pavilion, which has been increased in size by one-third, according to Joseph Malic, manager of the park. The "Pass the Bucks" show will be given on the orchestra stage on the outdoor pavilion, and students are promised a riot of color and amusement.

First rehearsals for the show were held in Jacob's Hall, Tuesday evening, with ten acts reporting. Adolph Schneider, ex '36, author of the show, stated that he was "very pleased with the turnout, which indicated that interest in the show was very satisfactory."

"We can still take care of additional acts," Schneider said, "and if there are any on the campus who would care to participate, we can find

SUPPRESSING MAGAZINES

THE Orphan, an unauthorized publication which promises to "turn on the heat" with "inside stuff" on school matters, made its initial bow on the campus Monday morning. "Bootstraps," an unauthorized mimeographed pamphlet, appeared on the campus Wednesday morning after an absence of two weeks. These publications, we suspect, are being received in some quarters of the University with a great deal of apprehension, for it is feared that the anonymous editors will print something which will reflect unfavorably upon the University and give outsiders a false impression of the University of Omaha.

We admit there are ample grounds for such a belief, especially after scanning the first issue of The Orphan. It has been a long time since we have seen so many "raw" jokes crowded into so few pages and we are awaiting with interest the forthcoming expose of The Gateway, faculty, and buildings, which the editors promise. The best way in which to meet this problem, we believe, is to ignore these unauthorized magazines. Why dignify them by stirring up a fuss over them? Let alone they will die of their own "weight."

Neither magazine contains anything which appeals to any considerable portion of the student body. Unless distributed to students freely the circulation of both magazines would be negligible. Thus far the policy of ignoring these magazines has been followed. Continue to ignore them and they will die of their own "weight."

"WHO THINK TOO LITTLE"

THE problem of interesting college students in the larger affairs of the world is not always an easy task. College students, as the World-Herald recently declared, seek mental relief from the supposedly strenuous hours in the classroom "in the lightest and most idiotic forms of human behavior." Very little, if any, time is devoted by students to any discussion of the problems facing the world today.

Much as we dislike to admit, the foregoing allegation bears considerable truth. Widespread student interest "in the opinions and philosophies which are being debated in the world today" is something which is not found on the university campus. We can be thankful, however, that there are on all campuses small groups which do show an interest in world affairs.

At Omaha University the International Relations and Liberal clubs are the only two groups which officially interest show any interest in these problems. These two clubs number about twenty students out of a total enrollment of 550. The scope of the work of clubs as these two should be better known among the student body.

For this reason we are glad to note that the International Relations Club has sponsored the visit of C. Douglas Booth of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace on the campus. The devoting of the assembly period to an address on the "War Danger in Europe" and Mr. Booth's presence on the campus today should do much to further student interest in preventing war, one of the "larger problems of the world."

THE ICE HOUSE

INASMUCH as the Covenant Hospital plans to have a representative at the next meeting of the Metropolitan Utilities Board to protest the erection of the ice station on property adjacent to the hospital, we believe it would be an excellent idea if the University would emulate this action.

The University is certainly justified in making a protest to the Utilities District. The erection of an ice house on the campus is more damaging to the University than to the Covenant Hospital. As we have stated before, to all appearances the ice station is on University property. It certainly is not a desirable addition to our meager supply of buildings.

Typewriter Stolen From Office

By FRAN NELSON

Last week we had the pleasure of telling all our readers, or our whole reader, whichever sounds the best, about the missing telephone and its removal by the bursar. To add insult to injury, somebody broke into the Gateway office during vacation and stole one of the typewriters. It was the one that printed the "S." (This is being written on one of the left-over typewriters, so we can't print what the other one did.)

Remember, we aren't saying that the bursar knows anything about the missing typewriter, but after all, the dirty finger is pointing and where the dirty finger points there the suspicions of the Gateway staff are bound to be.

The Gateway, in an effort to clear up the mysterious disappearance of our beloved means to an end (that last refers to the typewriter; isn't it clever?), is asking the students to co-operate with them in investigating any mysterious bulges seen walking around the campus (we are not referring to faculty members).

Perhaps some explanation is due on the mysterious elements entering into this case. Suffice it to say that the only real mystery involved is the reason anyone would have for making off with one of the relics that inhabit the Gateway office. Anyway, it serves them right.

May we make a few suggestions for dealing with the culprit, if you should be unfortunate enough to run into it. It is probably a very desperate "thing" by now, at least the "thing" ought to be, so be very careful, sneak up behind it, and whisper in its ear that you won't tell if it promises to remove the other two typewriters at its earliest convenience.

With three such typewriters on hand the culprit will no doubt commit hari-cari, solving the problem for all of us. Thus the three prime evils will be removed from the Gateway office and the culprit will meet its just deserts at its own hands.

Simple, isn't it?

Editor's Note: Just before press time the missing typewriter was found in the Dean's office, so just forget about the whole business.

Thru The Keyhole

We are sorry if we have offended any of those people to whom we in the last issue attributed a very human trait, that of gussying, and if it is indeed true that the above mentioned are not human beings, we apologize...Larson finally trickled some dope into taking that ole wreck off his hands.

You can fool some of the peoples some of the times and all of the people some of the times... Anyone with a car, wreck or no wreck, is indeed a popular man these days...even guys like Brawner and other such fraternity men...Race says he gets a big kick out of razzing those who would return to their posts before settlement of the strike...he evidently remembers the good ole days of battle between the Freshman and Sophs and hopes to see a battle royal at 24th and Ames...I'll have my sling shot ready...Were glad to see Macken back with us again...you can always depend on him for a rag...I know no one will miss the Ma-le Day show when they can count on seeing those seven toe teasers, Davies, Thompson, Nelson, Johnson, Charles, Meade, and Benson in action...during the show and no doubt afterwards, too...Tietz says he would sure like to go steady with someone if he could find some fem with the same idea...Congrats to Moucka and Rigg for all the honors...which goes to prove that all good eggs have their day...Doggone, there goes a street car and I'm the last one to miss a little excitement so I'll sign off for the time being....

Who Is It?

Very charming young man. An actor of no mean ability. He is a senior and a member of Gamma Pi Sigma. Has been vice president of this and that. Fond of cheese and hates liver and labor. Will take part in the Ma-le Day show, "Pass the Bucks."

STUDENT FORUM

(Contributions to the Student Forum must be signed, but The Gateway will withhold names upon request.)

To the Editor of The Gateway:

Plan after plan has been submitted and some have even been adopted to improve conditions for study in the library, but these plans have done little or nothing to stop the loud talk and constant rounds of laughter always present to thwart the more serious minded student from preparing assignments or enjoying their favorite dissertation. It is not a matter of selfishness on the part of the merrymakers, but simply a matter of thoughtlessness or perhaps even carelessness. Human beings bear reminding, university students perhaps more than any other group.

By this I am not suggesting that special attendants should be hired to police the library. I fully realize the large amount of work that the librarians must accomplish aside from looking piercingly occasionally at certain erring students, but I think a few remarks occasionally from a very stern librarian would do much to change the habits of some of our more wayward sons and daughters. In a short time the sacred rights of the studious would be paramount, and in a short time the library would become quiet and peaceful so that we could hear the ringing of the forge next door.

Three Omahans To Drake Relays

Coach Hartman indicated Wednesday that he would take at least three and possibly four tracksters to the Drake Relays to be held Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27, at Des Moines.

Somewhat heartened by the performance of Tippy Tyler and Leo Peary last Friday at Lincoln, Hartman believes that they will capture a place or two in the Drake classic.

Tyler will run both the high and low barriers, Peary will probably run one of the hurdle events and throw the javelin, and Howard Sorenson will toss the shot and discus. If Cliff Anderson rounds into condition before Friday, he will be entered in the 100 and 220 yard dash events.

Howard Sorenson, recently recovered from a tooth infection, has been throwing the shot over forty-five feet in practice the earlier part of the week.

Butler, Bursar, Non-Committal On "Orphan's" Spy Warning

By MARTIN SPECKTER

Charges of student espionage on the Omaha University campus were not denied by either Mr. L. D. Crenshaw or Duane Butler, '35. An article appearing in "The Orphan," announced that there were rumors that Butler was being paid by Crenshaw to discover the editor or editors of "Bootstraps." When questioned by The Gateway, neither the Bursar nor the student would discuss the matter.

"I'd rather not discuss it," said Butler. "I feel personally, however, resentment at an outside group that distributes communistic or liberal literature on our campus."

"Would you consider 'Bootstraps' as being communistic?" he was asked.

"I didn't say it was communistic," he answered. "But anyone can see it's liberal. I'm against it."

Repeated inquiries concerning the alleged payment for espionage resulted in no answers.

Bursar Crenshaw told The Gateway "he saw no need to talk about it."

When asked what punishment was in store for the editors, it students at the University, if they were apprehended, Mr. Crenshaw stated that the case would be judged upon its merits.

"I should like to speak to the staff of 'The Orphan,' he said. "If we can come to an understanding, I can save them a lot of grief."

"What I can't understand," he continued, "is why the editors don't ask for authorization from the Board. We might use a comic and literary magazine."

A staff member of "The Orphan," it is understood, said that the magazine staff is awaiting further proof before bringing charges of more student espionage.

To Form Junior Science Group

The Junior Academy of Science, sponsored by the Senior Academy of Science, will be formed sometime in May, announced Miss Nell Ward, associate professor of chemistry. This is in response to the favorable replies to the questionnaires sent out by the University science department last December, concerning the formation of such an organization in the Nebraska high schools.

The committee for its organization will meet in May at Lincoln, Nebraska, to plan for a program to be put on a year from this May. There will be five members on this committee, and Miss Nell Ward is chairman.

Similar groups have been formed in 13 states, including Iowa, Kansas and Illinois, with varying degrees of success. Students from Omaha University who are aiding Miss Ward in pushing the project are Anna Thurston, Amorette Holmes, Ruth Brodbeck, Lyman Cook, William Haberstroh, John Burke, and Louis Schonlau.

V. Royce West, head of the Foreign language department, will speak on "Superstitions in the Works of Mark Twain" at Joslyn Memorial, Sunday afternoon, at three-thirty in the Lecture room.

Jim said he'd smoked a lot of cigarettes in his time, but he'd put Chesterfield up in front of any of 'em when it came to taste.

... "and they ain't a bit strong either," is the way Jim put it.

That was the first Chesterfield I ever smoked. And I'm right there with him, too, when he says it's a ding good cigarette.
